been successful Consul Maimros's news was that the Colombian troops on the Isthmus had been withdrawn this afternoon, embarking at Colon on the Government gunbaat Cartagena. He said that the withdrawal was accomplished through the good offices of Commander John Hubbard of the United States gunboat Nashville.

Gen. Tovar, the commander-in-chief of the loyal forces on the Isthmus, who arrived at Colon on the Cartagena on Tuesday and was made prisoner that night by the separatists at Panama, was released from custody and permitted to leave with the 400 soldiers who had remained at Colon. Col. Torres, who commanded this force, also embarked President Roosevelt had Secretary of State Hay and Secretary of the Navy Moody at dinner with him at the White House to-night. Later in the evening the telegram from Consul Malmros was received, and Assistant Secretary of State Loomis, Rear Admiral Taylor, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation; Rear Admiral Walker, president of the Isthmian Canal Commission, and Lieutenant-Commander Winslow and Lieut. Belknap of the Bureau of Navigation were sent for and met the President, Mr. Hay and Mr. Moody in the executive offices. The consultation lasted nearly two hours breaking up after 11 o'clock. At its conclusion the news sent by Consul Malmros was announced, and it was also told that the cruiser Baltimore, Commander J. B. Briggs, now at Puerto Plata, Santo Domingo. had been ordered to augment the American ships at Colon. The gunboat Newport, Commander Albert Merty, now at Jacksonville. Fla., was ordered to take the place of the Baltimore in protecting American interests in Santo Domingo.

The conference between the President and Messrs. Hay and Moody was devoted in part to discussing the question of recognizing the Government of the new Republic of Panama. It is understood that it was decided to withhold recognition until the new Government has demonstrated its stability.

A further conference to-morrow between the President and the entire Cabinet will be devoted to a further consideration of the matter, with particular reference to the apparent success of the movement for independence. It is not unlikely that the telegram from Consul Malmros gave some additional information not made public, which convinces the President and his advisers that the Colombian Government would make no attempt to regain the Isthmus. At any rate, some of those who were in conference with the President hinted, on leaving the Executive offices, that the revolution had been entirely successful. One of them said to the newspaper men as he was leaving: "I congratulate you on the bloodless ending of the revolution." It was stated to-night that an announcement in regard to the question of recognizing the provisional government of the new Republic of Panama would be made by the State Department.

WE CONTROL SITUATION.

Forces to Remain as Long as There is Likelihood of Bloodshed.

Isthmus of Panama appears to have ended The prospect of its resumption at any time can hardly be considered even a remote possibility.

Until the contending political factions agree to an amicable settlement the United States Government will remain in control of the Isthmian territory. In the possession of what he now holds, neither Nationalist nor separatist is to be disturbed by the other, the strong arm of the United States being extended to prevent armed conflicts. The new provisional government, styled the Republic of Panama, is to be permitted to exercise its functions without fear of disturbance from Colombian authority.

7. As there is no prospect that the separatists will agree to any adjustment that does not provide for the recognition of Isthmian independence, ultimate realization of that independence appears to be assured, unless-and the contingency is not unlikely-the United States Government steps in and annexes the Isthmus.

In a nutshell the political and territorial entity of the United States of Colombia can be preserved only by agreement between the Bogota Government and the Panama separatists. To remain united the separatists say they will never agree The United States Government has determined that its forces shall control the Isthmus as long as there is any liability of bloodshed

The above is a brief outline of the situation on the Isthmus of Panama, as affected by the attitude of the United States. It was obtained from a source of the highest responsibility and may be accepted as authoritative.

THE SUN representative does not feel justified in giving its authority, for the reason that he is a man who, on account of his high official post, is never quoted in newspaper interviews. The immediate effect of the policy of the Government, as indicated by this official, is to prevent any conflict between the Colombian forces and those of the provisional republic, to permit loyalists and separatists hold what each has now on the Isthmus as long as they are peaceable and orderly to give both sides to understand plainly that the patience of the Washington Administration has been worn out by being called upon constantly to maintain Colombian sovereignty over the Isthmus and to demand the permanent establishment of law and order as the price of the withdrawal of the American forces.

The authoritative statement of the policy adopted by the President was given orally in response to questions. The details of what was said are substantially these:

The United States Government, under its treaty of 1846 with New Grenada, now Colombia, has been heretofore carrying out the obligations assumed under that treaty, to preserve freedom of transit and the sovereignty of Colombia on the Isthmus, always to the advantage of Colombia. It is now a question with the President whether the Government shall continue to do this or carry out the treaty in the spirit instead of merely in the lotter.

By carrying out the treaty in its spirit is meant that it must be construed with reference to the interests of the United States as determined by conditions as they now appear, instead of construing it with reference to the interests of Colombia alone.

A game of throat cutting is constantly going on in the Isthmus. Last year the United States helped the Colombian Government to arrange an ending of the rebellion which so seriously threatened its existence. American ships and men were sent to the Isthmus to preserve order for the benefit of Colombia. Now the United States Government is called upon again by the terms of its treaty to send ships and men there to keep transit free from interruption and to preserve the peace. These outbreaks are occurring constantly, and it has at last become a question whether the United States shall, by the exercise of its authority in behalf of the Colombian Government; permit such a state of things to continue on the Isthmus, which was at one time independent and has always desired to be so.

As long as this feeling exists, so long will the United States be called upon to perform service for the benefit of Colombia. How long is the United States to stand by and see this disorder continue? How often is it to use its armed forces to preserve

Colombian sovereignty? The consular officers and naval comnanders on the Isthmus and in its waters have been directed to prevent bloodshed and to preserve peace to the utmost exertion of their influence. They are to secure freedom of traffic across the Isthmus and to stop disorders. It is a fair inference that, under their instructions to prevent bloodshed, they must prevent the landing of Colombian roops whose object is to attack the revolutionists, and also must prevent the loyal forces and the Panamaists now on the Isthmus from coming in conflict with each

The revolutionists hold Panama and be regarded as a fair inference that the United States forces will not permit them to be disturbed in that possession. How tained is a matter for the future, and the Government is not dealing in futures. NEW GOVERNMENT ABLE TO KEEP ORDER.

Secretary Hay to-day received a telegrain addressed to the Secretary of State, Washington, and dated at Panama yesterday, formally notifying the Government of the United States of the establishment of the Provisional Government of the Republic of Panama.

It was signed by José Augustin Arango. Federico Boyd and Tomas Arias, the three Consuls who are at the head of the new Government. The Consuls said that the Provisional Government was able to maintain order.

Recognition by the United States was no asked or suggested. Secretary Hay will send a response, the character of which has not been determined.

Dr. Herran, the Colombian Charge d'Affaires, received word to-night from the WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The sovereignty Colombian Telegraph Company, whose of the Government of Colombia over the lines run from the cable station at Buenaventura to Bogota, that it had reestablished communication between Buenaventura and the interior of Colombia. Dr. Herran will telegraph his Government to-morrow his views of the Panama situation, with particular reference to what he understands to be the attitude of the United States.

CONCERNED OVER OUR POLICY.

Members of the Diplomatic Corps are very much concerned over the understood policy of the Government with reference to the Isthmus. Most of them, particularly those from Latin America, are alarmed and inclined to be indignant over what they construe as an intention on the part of this Government to assume and maintain contol of Isthmian territory.

They hold that the only rights which the Government has in the matter are those of preserving free transit and maintaining the sovereignty of Colombia. The course which they believe the United States is about to pursue they regard as unprecedented, illegal and a distinct manace to the independent sovereignty of Central American and South American countries Diplomatic representatives of Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia, Italy, Austria, Spain, Belgium, Bolivia, Colombia. Costa Rica, Cuba, Nicaragua and Venezuela called on Secretary Hay to-day. the occasion being the regular weekly reception for the transaction of diplomatic business. Nearly all of them asked Mr. Hay about the attitude which would be pursued by the United States on the Isthmus, thus indicating a world-wide interest in that subject. This interest must be attributed to the idea that the Isthmus may become a possession of the United States and the effect of the American policy on the Panama Canal. Mr. Hay was willing to tell the news from the Isthmus, but he had little o say about policies.

Rear Admiral J. B. Coghlan, commanding the Caribbean squadron, arrived here from Norfolk to-day and had consultations with the Navy Department officials. It was said at the Department that there did not appear to be any present necessity of sending the Caribbean squadron to the Isthmus. Admiral Coghlan's ships will sail from Norfolk for Guantanamo, Cuba. about Nov. 25. If anything develops in the meantime that will require a larger American force at Colon, he will sail direct for that port. MARINES LANDED AGAIN.

The Navy Department got three depatches to-day from Commander John John Hubbard of the gunboat Nashville, at Colon. In the first he told that he had landed a force of blue jackets and marines to preserve order. This the Navy Department already knew from other sources.

In the second telegram he said that there had been no bloodshed at Colon and that he had withdrawn his men yesterday after-

The third despatch, evidently sent today, came late this afternoon. In it Commander Hubbard said that he had again landed an armed force to protect American citizens.

Hubbard's despatches which the Nav Department and not give out. Colon is i a state of intense en ritement, and it is feared that there will be trouble. The Colombian Government troops there know of the arrest of their two Generals, Tove and Arias, in Panama.

A marine battation, 350 strong, is to be assembled at League Island, Pa., for embarkation on the training ship Prairie, which has orders to leave not later than Tuesday next. The intention is to send these marines to garrison the United States naval station at Guantanamo, Cuba, to take the place of the 400 marines who were sent for that purpose on the Dixie, but who were ordered on Tuesday to Colon.

Should the situation on the Isthmus reuire it, however, the Prairie will go to Colon and land the marines there. She is to stop at some port on her way down for any instructions which the Navy Department may decide to send.

The officers of the Navy Department have been prompt to recognize the condition of affairs on the Isthmus, and within a few days there will be a formidable naval force there. The Boston, which has been in San Juan del Sur, on the coast of Nicaragua, sailed yesterday under orders from the Navy Department to go direct to Panama, and the Atlanta, which reached Kingston last night from Guantanamo, left there this morning for

INDEPENDENCE "INEVITABLE."

Capt. C. B. Humphrey and Lieut. G. McP. Murphy, of the army, who spent some time investigating the conditions on the Isthmus of Panama last September, were in conference to-day with Rear Admiral Taylor, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation.

The officials of the Navy Department have shown a particular interest in the strength of the fortifications at Panama and Colon and consulted the officers regarding them and as to the strength of the Colombian naval forces.

According to the reports made by Capt. Humphrey and Lieut. Murphy the independence the Isthmus of Panama is inevitable as the people of the Isthmus are a unit for separation from Colombia. In fact it is the officers' opinion that all the recent revolutions have had but one ultimate object in view-the independence of the State of Panama. They were in Panama on the day set for the ratification of the Canal Treaty and were able to judge of the intensity of feeling aroused over the action of the Colombian Congress

So strong is the feeling for independence that it is the belief of Capt. Humphrey and Lieut. Murphy that even though Colombia should finally ratify the canal project the people of the Isthmus would not be content under Colombian control. It is pointed control most of the Isthmus. It may also out that all the money on the Isthmus is the result of independent trade and that the Isthmians are compelled to pay a share of this to the Colombian Government, for long this inferential status will be main- which they get no return. This, it is thought, would continue to be the case should the canal be built, and under these circumstances revolutions would continue to break out until the independence of the Isthmus was assured.

Capt. Humphrey and Lieut. Murphy presented to Admiral Taylor this morning sketches of the gunboat Bogota and also described very fully the gunboats Carthagena and Pinto. The two latter vessels are on the Atlantic side of the Isthmus and, it is believed, can carry a considerable force of troops.

NO TRACE OF A PLOT IN THIS CITY.

Although there is lacking positive evi dence that the plans for the movement in Panama for secession were formulated this city, several of the men interested in it have been here in the past two months The most prominent of these was Dr. Manuel Amador, who figures as Minister of Finance in the Cabinet of the embryo

Dr. Amador is a leading physician of He left this city for home about a fortnight ago. There was no reason at the time of his visit north to suspect that his mission had to do with the then expected revolution, so no watch was kept on his movements. He spent several days in Washington.

Another well known resident of Panama who came here about the same time was José Gabriel Duque, proprietor of the Panama Star and Herald. He said then that a rebellion on the Isthmus would result from the defeat of the canal treaty But if Senor Duque and Dr. Amador did work in the interests of the insurrectionary plot, they were successful in escaping suspicion.

Sefor Arturo de Brigard, Consul-General of Colombia, said yesterday that he ad no proof that these men came here in the interests of the rebels.

Dr. F. Mutis Duran, ex-Governor of Panama, who is now in this city, says he has been concerned in no such plot.

Eduardo Perez Triano, who is a nephew of a former President of Colombia, declared vesterday that there would probably be a great patriotic movement in the country o prevent the secession of Panama

WHY PEOPLE GO TO CHURCH. Lyman Abbott Says They Go for Something They Don't Always Get.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 5 .- "Instead of ministers asking the question, Why don't more people go to church?" said Dr. Lyman Abbott to the Yale Theological students this afternoon, "they might better ask why anybody ever does go to church. It is an extraordinary phenomenon that in this money-making age, when there are not railroads suspend much of their service, the farmers should lay by his plough and the storekeeper put up his blinds and troops upon troops of people should come to church
